CNS Neurology Campus (Lisbon)

Treatments of neurological disorders made available by Medical Port are performed by Campus Neurológico Sénior (CNS Campus), near Lisbon, Portugal.

CNS Campus was founded by PhD Joaquim Ferreira, a neurologist with over 20 years of experience, expert in Parkinson's and other Movement Disorders, and currently head of the European section of the international society that represents the field.

The mission of the Campus is to improve the quality of life and autonomy of its patients. By providing comprehensive care to patients with neurological disorders, movement disorders, and neurodegenerative diseases. CNS Campus places its focus on an integrated and interdisciplinary approach, implemented by health professionals of recognized competence in the field, in collaboration with family members and caregivers.

With a team of over 110 members, comprising medical doctors, psychologists, physiotherapists, speech therapists, nutritionists and nurses, the campus specializes in the treatment of Parkinson's Disease, being also experienced in dealing with other neurological conditions such as Cerebrovascular Accidents, Alzheimer or Multiple Sclerosis.

From the diagnosis stage to the definition of therapeutic alternatives, the treatment approach is adapted to each patient and condition, promoting noticeable recovery and ensuring that patients and their families can learn how to cope with each condition and how to live better lives.

Proven expertise in several conditions:

Parkinson's disease
Stroke (CVA)
Multiple sclerosis
Alzheimer's disease
Huntington's disease

Medical services:
